A MOST REMARKABLE LETTER

Acting City Attorney Cornish Gives Advice on the Treasury Defalcation.

In the absence of City Attorney Connel, Acting City Attorney Cornish sent the following letter to Mayor Bemis in response to a request for information as to the course prescribed by law for the mayor in the emergency presented by the Bolin defalcation:

OMAHA, June 27, 1895.—George P. Bemis, Mayor, City: Dear Sir—In response to request for information as to your legal duty in the matter of Henry Bolin, city treasurer, permit me to state:

Section 99 of the charter provides that the treasurer shall keep all money in his hands belonging to the city of Omaha in separate and distinct from his own money, and prohibits him from using any such money or any warrants or other securities in his custody or receiving any interest thereon for his own use or benefit, and provides further that any violation of said provision shall subject said treasurer to immediate removal from office by the city council, which is authorized to declare such office vacant, and to elect thereafter, with the consent of the city council, shall appoint a successor. By this provision the city council alone can declare an office vacant.

By section 172 of the charter power to remove any office holder from office for good and sufficient cause is conferred upon the directors of the city of Omaha, and may be made and filed with the clerk of said court proper charges and specifications against the officer sought to be removed, alleging that he is guilty of some offense in his office, or that he is incompetent or neglects his duties, or that for any other good and sufficient cause stated he shall be removed from his office. On the filing of such petition the court shall issue a writ of habeas corpus, returnable not more than ten days after the service thereof, and if good and sufficient reason is shown the court will remove the officer from his office. During the pendency of such proceedings the court may by order suspend the officer from the duties of his office.

Mr. Bolin has rendered unnecessary any such proceedings by tendering his resignation, which has been accepted by the council. Until a successor is appointed, confirmed and qualified, Mr. Bolin and his bondsmen will be liable for the custody and safe keeping of the city's money. Any talk in the press or upon the streets to the effect that the bondsmen of Mr. Bolin are released from all further liability on their bond from the time Mr. Bolin tendered his resignation and it was accepted is ill-advised and not the law.

It is the duty of the directors of the city to confer upon the mayor and penalties provided by law are intended to subvert a useful purpose and not as a means of persecution. The directors of the city are to be held beyond question. That the law ought to be rigidly enforced by a city treasurer is also beyond question. It should also be remembered that Mr. Bolin has lived in this city for thirty years; that up to two months ago no man had a better reputation for integrity than he, and no official had a better record of performance of his official duties than Mr. Bolin. If a reputation is to avail anything, it ought to be in circumstances like the present. Now, he has lost his reputation, his record in office being a blot upon his name, and his property is all turned over to his bondsmen, his means of livelihood are suddenly cut off, and his sufferings are such as few endure. To attempt further punishment would look more like persecution than the performance of a duty.

During your term of office you have established a reputation of being close to the line of right regardless of political machination, and therefore, of all men, you should endeavor to disregard the harangue in the city council, and to successfully resist the papers, all of which are so evidently intended to work up sentiment favorable to various political movements this coming fall, and you, fair-minded as you are, should not be used as a tool to achieve selfish political ends of others. In the case of Henry Bolin there are a number of circumstances which are of a nature to lead to a thorough and complete investigation. There was no attempt to cover or hide a single act, and Mr. Bolin intended to stand by his bondsmen and to attempt to cover and conceal, all of which are lacking in this case. Had such been his intention there is no reason why his mortgage should not have gone up into the hands of thousands instead of as it is. It is now evident that not only the city will not lose a dollar, but even Mr. Bolin's bondsmen are not likely to lose a dollar in this matter.

The newspaper reports to the contrary notwithstanding, I have never received an acknowledgment of my salary, but it was simply because I never needed it. Had I been in need of a temporary advancement on my salary, which would be due the following month, Henry Bolin could have accommodated me without the least danger of loss to any person, because my salary would be forthcoming to pay the debt, and in this, he would have followed a custom that has been in vogue as long as the oldest office holder can remember in this city. This custom is wrong in a business line, and I believe it fortunate for the city that the present publicity given to it will stop it in the future. Prior to Mr. Bolin's administration the law was as to the payment of the city's money by people of this city as a bank gift rather than a political contest. Every person who knew anything, knew that the city treasurer who was elected would loan the city's money to the banks and would himself obtain the interest thereon. Because it was known that the city treasurer would loan the city's money to the banks and would himself obtain the interest thereon, the law was changed allowing money to be loaned by the city direct instead of giving this emolument to the office holder. Supporting under the old regime, a bank failed, the treasurer would have been an embezzler; but we are going to condemn all of the honorable men who have held office as treasurer in this state. What is the difference between their offense and the offense of Mr. Bolin? Simply they have loaned money to the banks and they repaid the money. Therefore the city lost no money in those cases. But the city loses no money in this case and the violation of the law is no greater. When Alexander Hamilton was killed, Aaron Burr became an outcast, and the formerly honorable custom of dueling ceased to be honorable in this country. The present disclosure will cast a stain upon Mr. Bolin's reputation for all time to come. It is to be hoped that these illegal methods which have been used to get the money out of the city will be stopped. We do not condemn Alexander Hamilton because dueling was such an established custom that to refuse to engage therein would, in his opinion, have brought dishonor upon him. Should Henry Bolin be so seriously condemned for doing that which had been customary before him, when every act of his since the disclosure has been of an honorable man, as he was always thought to be before that time? The city loses no money and is a gainer in having an obnoxious custom terminated beneficently. In my opinion you ought not to be a party to a scheme to make political capital out of the misfortune of a poor man. You, in my opinion, is to appoint a treasurer who succeeded Bolin. If not confirmed, to appoint another. You are responsible for the character of your appointees, the city council for their acts in confirming or rejecting. Very respectfully, E. J. CORNISH, Assistant City Attorney.

AMONG GERMAN SOCIETIES.

Branch of the Haragari Order Establishes—Fines the Fashion.

Some days ago a new fraternal order was introduced into this city, called the German order of the Haragari. This society has quite a membership, mostly in the eastern states.

Up till now Chicago was the terminus of the order's work in the west. Some prominent Germans of Omaha, knowing what good the Haragari order has done during the long years of its existence, made preparations to have also a branch in this city and induced the grand treasurer of the order, Mr. Philip Koehler, who resides in the Windy City, to come here and start the good work, which was done.

"Omaha lodge of the German Order of the Haragari No. 829" sprang into existence with about forty members. The following officers were elected: O. B. Charles Kreile, U. B. Charles King; secretary, Emil Fechar, treasurer, Fritz Kreile; states-deputy, Gottlieb Kern. The motto of the new lodge is "Friendship, Love and Humanity." The meetings will be held weekly at Schaeffer's hall, Thirteenth and Harney streets.

Sunday next the members of the Omaha Haragari lodge will take an outing. The picnic place has not been decided upon.

The last picnic of the Lieferkrans was a success in every particular. The same can be said in regard to the picnic of the (German) Teutonia lodge, Order of the World.

There is a society of the order in the city called Verein Gemuetlichkeit, which is highly estimated for the excellent arrangements of all its entertainments. Prominent people of the north side are in the management of that society, among them Messrs. Storz, Bauer, Schukert and others. The Verein has made arrangements to hold a picnic on the 10th of July, at the farm of Mr. Hech, near the city limits.

Prof. Hans Albert has gone to southern California, combining a business with a pleasure trip. He will return to Omaha about the end of August.

The Millard Turnverein celebrated last Sunday its second anniversary and received at the same time a beautiful flag, presented by the women of Millard. The feast attracted quite a crowd and the program was rendered in a very creditable manner. With a grand ball the celebration closed.

Sunday last the Austrian-Hungary society of Omaha elected officers for the ensuing year. They are: President, Math Thaler; vice president, Joe Feltzer; secretary, Joe Lang; financial secretary, F. Poltera.

THE WONDERFUL BLACK HILLS.

All Teachers Should Know All about the Black Hills—historic, instructive, interesting to a greater degree than any other part of the west.

The Hot Springs of South Dakota are there. Delegates to the National Educational association meeting at Denver, holding tickets over the Union Pacific, have an unprecedented opportunity to see the wonders of the Black Hills. Prof. Clemens of Fremont Normal school, Fremont, Neb., will personally conduct an excursion party on this trip, leaving on the nearest agent F. E. & M. V. or Union Pacific railway for further particulars.

Remember the Old Chief. Ex-Postmaster Clarkson was pleasantly remembered on Saturday evening of last week by several employees of the postoffice who were upon terms of intimate friendship with the former during his connection with the postal service. They presented him with an elaborate silver service, which is said to be one of the handsomest ever purchased in this city. Mrs. Coudens made the presentation speech, to which the major responded in a most appropriate manner. The presentation occurred at the Clarkson residence, and the evening was pleasantly spent socially.

"The Crack Train of the World." A prominent New York merchant and importer of leather goods said in his hearing the other day: "I have traveled all over Europe and America, and I consider the train which leaves Omaha every day at 6 p. m. for Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway, 'The Crack Train of the World.'"

Trinity School's Tour Preceded by Triumphant Parade by Motor.

When the Sunday school of Trinity Methodist church went on its annual picnic yesterday afternoon the pupils and teachers enjoyed one pleasure never before had on such an occasion, at least in this part of the country. That was being hauled to their destination by the power of one of the strongest electric currents that has ever moved the wheels of a motor in Omaha.

For a year the Council Bluffs bridge line has had on trial one of the mammoth motors being turned out by an eastern company, and while the motor has given perfect satisfaction, it was determined to put it to the supreme test. It, therefore, headed the train of six open cars, brought from over the river, to carry the school to the Driving park. The load was taken on in the northern part of the city. The whole train was abundantly decorated with flags, fully fifty passengers were in each car, all the boys, and many of the girls, had tin horns, and as the train came down Sixteenth street, many of the people on the sidewalks, who had forgotten to watch the bill poster and that a circus had come to town without their knowledge.

The streets were lined by people watching the passage of the happy throng, and the pretty spectacle. The big motor sailed along with its unweary burden, seeming itself to share the pride in its achievement manifested by Manager Dimmock, of the bridge line, and Agent Henry of the manufacturing company, and Motorman Lovett, who was at the helm.

The ascent of the 1 per cent grade from Douglas to Farnam street was watched with much interest, and a trifle of anxiety, for the sight of a reserve motor, not far behind the train, showed that there was some possibility of the officials that the big machine might weaken on going up the hill. But there was no need of the reserve, for the train proceeded without slackening speed.

On the level between the river and Council Bluffs the speed of the motor, with so heavy a load was tested, and so satisfactory was the result that the speed was increased to the era of general electric railways was at hand, the speed made being twenty miles an hour.

Reply to a Coin's Financial School. The hit of the year is "Coin at School in Finance." The following letters, one from the editor of one of the leading democratic papers of the country, and another from a republican United States senator, prove its non-partisan character, and also its high merits:

Louisville Courier-Journal, Editorial Department, Louisville, Ky., May 16, 1895: "B. Conkey Co., Chicago, Ill., Dear Sirs: The little volume published by you, 'Coin at School in Finance,' is a most interesting and valuable treatise on the cause of sound money that I would like to arrange with you for the publication of as much of it as you are willing to be reported by the press. I have read it with great interest. It is a contribution to the education of the people, who are inquiring into this question that is of great value.
